

University of Nevada, Reno
 School of Medicine
 Sanford Center for Aging

Nevada Geriatric Education Center

In partnership with the Nevada Department of Veterans Services

Geriatric Lecture Series: Hidden Heroes

Program Objectives

- List the nuances of working with the population in care settings
- Discuss the resources and benefits available for veterans and where to find them
- Utilize communication tools for veterans and family members
- Explain why the military experience has an influence on the aging veteran

Presented by:

Wendy Simons, BS

Deputy Director of Health and Wellness,
 Nevada Department of Veterans Services

CEU Credit

This program has been submitted to the Boards of Examiners for Long-Term Care Administrators and Social Workers for 2.5 Continuing Education Units (CEUs). University of Nevada, Reno School of Medicine's Sanford Center for Aging approves this training for 2.5 of nursing CEUs.

This program will discuss the overarching skills and information needed to understand and integrate the military experience into the supportive care setting. It will cover the many aspects often overlooked in providing for veterans that reside in facilities, from a social background and supportive services aspect, and how to work with veterans as unique individuals, advocate for and find resources for veterans.

Tuesday, July 31, 2018

8:30 am to 11:15 am

sign-in starting at 8:15 am

Elko: University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) School of Medicine
 701 Walnut Street, Elko, NV 89801

Las Vegas: UNR's Clark County Cooperative Extension
 8050 Paradise Road, Las Vegas, NV 89123

Reno: UNR's Washoe County County Cooperative Extension
 4955 Energy Way, Reno, NV 89502

Zoom: In the comfort of your own home or office
 Information to connect will be emailed prior to the program

For more information on NGEC, upcoming programs, or to join our mail list, please visit <https://med.unr.edu/aging/ngec>

For questions, email Natalie Mazzullo at nmazzullo@unr.edu

Funding for this program was made possible by the Nevada Department of Veterans Services, Veterans in Care Program